FÓRSA

Fórsa is the largest public sector trade union in Ireland, representing members across six divisions.

We also work with thousands of members employed in a range of private sector companies, state agencies and community organisations.

Our members include civil servants, school secretaries, health and social care professionals, clerical admin workers in hospitals, SNAs, pilots, cabin crew, probation officers, local government workers, and many more people who go to work for the people of Ireland every day.

Winning for our members

We support and empower our members to win better working conditions and pay in their workplaces. At local and national level, we fight for better collective wages, better terms and conditions, and better workers' rights for all our members. And we don't just fight for our members – we win.

Fórsa gives peace of mind to our members by providing access to experienced, professional representation and support, and advice to individual members when it's needed.

Campaigning for a fairer and more equal Ireland

We campaign for the rights of workers and citizens across the economy and society. We often work with other unions and civil society groups on coalition campaigns, such as the housing crisis, domestic violence leave, Stop the Stigma campaign for menopausal and menstrual workplace policies, and the campaign for a 4 Day Week.

The more members we have in the union, the stronger we are. Join Fórsa today.
